Mr. William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

It was indeed an honor for me to be part of a small group of presidents to meet with you, John McMahon, and other members of your staff for a day-long briefing on the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency. Not only was your hospitality warm, and the atmosphere cordial, but I felt that the information provided and your response to our questions were offered in an open, constructive, and sincere way.

As you may know, I have done a variety of things associated with state and federal governments, but I can think of no single experience that has made me prouder than the briefing you provided. You can be properly proud of the high quality professional staff with whom you work.

I have spoken to many of my colleagues here at Eastern about the marvelous opportunities for employment afforded by the CIA. We would be delighted if you would include Eastern Illinois University among the institutions you use to recruit high quality staff. Again let me tell you how grateful I am for the opportunity, and wish you continued success in the very vital role you play in the health of our nation.

Sincerely,
